Alsobrooks for Senate

LARGO, Md. (May 10, 2023)—Following the launch of her U.S. Senate campaign, lifelong Marylander Angela Alsobrooks received more than three dozen endorsements from leaders and lawmakers

"Angela Alsobrooks is extremely qualified to represent Maryland in the United States Senate and deserves our support. She has a proven track record of success which includes fighting crime, fighting for children, and increasing access to jobs and healthcare," said Congressman Kweisi Mfume. "Angela is someone who knows and understands the people she represents, cares deeply and takes the time to listen to all people. We need her in the U.S. Senate."

"As Prince George's State's Attorney, Angela Alsobrooks handled criminal cases with the highest level of integrity and professionalism, fighting each day for the citizens she took an oath to protect," said Montgomery County State's Attorney John McCarthy. "I'm supporting Angela for Senate because she's smart, consistent, and I know she will fight for common sense legislation to keep all Marylanders and Americans safe."

'We don't have anyone like Angela in Senate, and she would be only the second woman in history to be elected to a statewide federal office in Maryland," said District 9B Delegate Courtney Watson, "I'm with Angela because women need a seat at the table while critical discussions are ongoing, and I know she will fight for all women's rights, and especially a woman's right to choose."

Angela runs on a strong record of public service, decreasing crime, enhancing schools, creating jobs, growing the economy, and increasing access to mental health and addictions care treatment.

Stephanie White celebrated as Legionnaire and Gold Star Mother

Legionnaire Stephanie A. White was honored May 6, with an Appreciation Program and Luncheon. As her long-time friend, I was pleased to be there to applaud.

She grew up in the San Francisco area, graduated from the University of California at Berkeley, and enlisted in the Army where she was assigned to the Intelligence and Security Command in Virginia. She retired from Federal service as an IT specialist.

She is now an active member of Post 259 and of the Maryland Chapter of the American Gold Star Mothers. Her busy volunteer life includes volunteering at the Warrior Events Fall Tailgate Party at the Army-Navy football game, the annual fundraiser golf tournament at Bulle Rock Golf Course, and assisting with veterans at Charlotte Hall Veterans Home. She serves on the Maryland Selective Service Board.

She is the only Maryland Chapter Gold Star Mother who is also a veteran.

The program opened with the lighting of a candle in memory of her son PFC Robert L. White who died in a tank training accident at Fort Hood, Tex., in July 2002.

Among those who paid tribute were Brigadier General Janeen Birckhead, Adjutant General of the Maryland National Guard; Dr. James A. Dula, Major, USAF, Ret.; and Kelly Swanson, Past President of the Maryland Chapter of Gold Star Mothers.

Sallie Mckoy fatally hit on Suitland Road

Sallie Mckoy, my Skyline Drive neighbor for many years, was hit as she attempted to cross Suitland Road, near Randolph, on April 20 about 3:10 p.m.

From the police report: "The preliminary investigation revealed that a driver traveling southbound on Suitland Road struck McCoy in the roadway as she attempted to cross the street. McCoy was pronounced deceased on the scene. The driver of the striking vehicle remained on scene and was transported to a hospital for non-life-threatening injuries."

After seeing this report, Arlecia Mckoy-Allen reported that the name of her grandmother, Sallie Mckoy, had been spelled wrong in the above report. She added that Sallie was 78.

Services were at Southeast Christian Fellowship Church on Q Street SE. I hope to learn more about Sallie, so I can write her a proper obituary.

Ode to a red oak

Even as I write this column, Bartlett Tree Experts are in my back yard, taking down my beautiful red oak which has fallen on hard times. It stood, according to the foreman, about 190 feet high, and was still producing beautiful spring foliage. But it had signs of major deterioration and was a threat.

When I moved here in 1958, it was already a tall, beautiful, mature tree. So, I believe it was probably about 100 years old.

I felt sad all during the very noisy take-down. I kept remembering Joyce Kilmer's poem, "Trees. ".... A tree that may in summer wear a nest of robins in her hair. A tree that looks at God all day and lifts its leafy arms to pray...... Poems are made by fools like me, but only God can make a tree."

CHRIST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH HISTORY (PART 2)

The two churches, St. Thomas, and John Wesley, wanted to do more for the upbuilding of the Kingdom of God. Therefore, under the pastoral leadership of Rev. Charles A. Johnson, II, the dream of merging the two churches began to take root. Making the dream a reality began in early March 1973 when a task force was formed to study the possibilities. By early June 1973, the final plan for the merger was completed. Ordained by God, early Saturday morning, July 17, 1973, the proposal to merge St. Thomas and John Wesley United Methodist Churches into one was presented to a joint charge conference of the Woodville Charge. Historical sites: St. Thomas United Methodist Church organized in 1868 and John Wesley United Methodist Church organized in 1867.

Realizing that Jesus Christ must be the head of all that we strive to accomplish, it was the consensus that the two churches become one and be given a new name. Thus, at 1:03 a.m. on that Saturday morning, an overwhelming vote of merger was passed, and CHRIST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH was

Since the birth of Christ Church in Aquasco, the following pastors with vision and a variety of gifts were sent to lead and teach us on this journey of kingdom building: Reverends Noel O. Beecham (1974–1979), Pearlena Woolridge (1979–1983), Conrad D. Parker (1983–1986), Norman Handy, Sr., PhD (1986–1989), Eddie Smith (1989–1992), Pauline R. Wilkins (1992–1995), Patricia A. Pride (1995–1998), Manuel R. Tay (1998–2001), Carolyn A. Hipkins (2001–2002), Donna A. Smith (2002–2004), and Robert E. Walker, Jr., PhD (September 2002–June 2011).

Each pastor brought a new vision and a new hope for the congregation. As the vision became clearer, there was a need to look at how we were living out our ministry through our vision statement: "Training Disciples for Christian Living." "Then I will give you shepherds after my own heart who will lead you with knowledge and understanding." (Jeremiah 3:15).

In mid-2011, a new chapter began for the fellowship here in this part of God's vineyard. Christ Church became part of a cooperative parish, New Hope Fellowship, along with Nottingham-Myers Church under the leadership of Rev. Darryl Williams (2011–2014). July 2014–June 2021, our new spiritual leader was Reverend Constance C. Smith. The mission of the New Hope Fellowship is to "Love God, Love People and Serve the World, with our primary focus to live by the mandate of Jesus Christ as found in Matthew 28:19: Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all things that I have commanded you; and lo, I am with you always, even to the end of the earth." Currently serving as Pastor is Rev. Shemaiah Strickland. Christ United Methodist Church will celebrate 50 years of service and worship this year. They will have an anniversary banquet Saturday, July 15, 2023, and their anniversary worship service, Sunday, July 16, 2023.

SU Student Appointed University System of Maryland Student Regent for 2023–24

SALISBURY, Md. (May 12, 2023)—Salisbury University junior marketing major Josiah Parker has proven himself as a leader in multiple student organizations on campus.

Now, he will represent more than 170,000 of his peers throughout the University System of Maryland (USM) as one of two student members of the USM Board of Regents. His year-long term begins Saturday, July 1.

"I wanted to get a feel for what I could do," the Prince George's County native said, describing what attracted him to the position. "I want to see a level of diversity, equity and inclusion in the USM, and I want to represent the SU brand, 'Make Tomorrow Yours.' I also want to see our campus and community live up to that ideal, succeeding as individuals and thriving as an institution.

"I hold great pride in being appointed by Governor Wes Moore, the first Black Governor of Maryland. This not only gives me a purpose, but allows me to help others find their purpose and their life vision. As a Student Regent, I look forward to investigating new degree programs that aren't offered that could intertwine with students' skillsets, bring the creativity out in people that takes them on a fun journey to find what they want to pursue in the future.

"I also want to incorporate my leadership skills through motivating and inspiring others, in addition to increasing the effectiveness and efficiency of the University System of Maryland to be the best in the nation. It's that passion and vision that motivates me to achieve great things."

Parker also plans to be an advocate for transfer students from Maryland's two- to four-year institutions, following his own successful transition from Anne Arundel Community College (AACC) to SU. He is proud that both SU and AACC have been ranked among the nation's best higher education institutions

As a member of SU's student NAACP chapter, Black Student Union, SU Multicultural Alliance, Sociology Front, Philosophy Club, Collegiate Entrepreneurs' Organization (CEO), Marketing Excellence Club, Best Buddies program and Food for the Flock initiative to fight student food insecurity, as well as a past commentator for SU Athletics' Sea Gull Sports Network, Parker is ensconced in the University community.

Through his USM role, he hopes not only to serve as a positive influence for his fellow students, while also advocating for increased graduation and enrollment rates, but to learn more effective communication strategies and gain a better understanding of policies and academia — traits he believes will be useful in his plan to pursue his M.B.A. at SU after his expected graduation in 2024.

Nearly 800 Use Local Soberride® Program on Cinco de Mayo

By PRESS OFFICER WRAP

TYSONS, Va. (May 12, 2023)—Nearly 800 (778) persons in the Washington-metropolitan area used the free safe ride service, SoberRide® this Cinco de Mayo (May 5) as opposed to possibly driving home drunk.

"For its hours of operation this Cinco de Mayo, this level of ridership translates into SoberRide removing a potential drunk driver from Greater Washington's roadways every 55-seconds," said Kurt Erickson, President of the nonprofit Washington Regional Alcohol Program (WRAP), the organization conducting the region's SoberRide® effort.

WRAP's 2023 Cinco de Mayo SoberRide® campaign began at 4 p.m. on Friday, May 5, 2023 and continued until 4 a.m. the next day, Saturday, May 6 as a way to keep local roads safe from potentially impaired drivers during this traditionally high-risk period. During this twelve-hour period, area residents celebrating with alcohol could download the Lyft app to their phones, then enter the code "SAFECINCO2023" in the app's 'Promo' section to receive their no-cost safe ride home. SoberRide® was available to new and existing Lyft users.

Lyft provided SoberRide® trips throughout the Washington-metropolitan area to local residents age 21 and older who otherwise may have attempted to drive home after drinking.

OVER THE RAINBOW: Color, Value, and Form Work by Gail Shaw-Clemons

By KATE TAYLOR DAVIS
Pyramid Atlantic

HYATTSVILLE, Md. (May 15, 2023)—DC Artist Gail Shaw-Clemons' mastery of the rainbow roll technique is on full display in this vibrant exhibition of her monotype sculptural prints. Her work challenges the eye to see color not experienced before. Nearly 50 of these vivid works comprise the exhibition, dominant in the series are sculptural assemblages that twist paper and color into even more high-contrast rainbows. The public opening for the exhibition takes place on Saturday, May 20, from 6-8 p.m. (free, RSVP required). The exhibition runs through June 25, 2023 in Pyramid's Helen C. Frederick Gallery. Gallery hours are Wed-Thu, 10-8 p.m and Fri-Sun, 10-6 p.m. A virtual artist talk will be held June 14 at 6 p.m. Pyramid is located at 4318 Gallatin Street, Hyattsville Maryland 20781. For more information and an RSVP link, visit pyramidatlantic.org or call 301-608-9101.

Using a technique inspired and invented by her mentor, Professor Thadeusz Lapinsky, who taught at the University of Maryland, Shaw Clemons' rainbow roll process allows an array of gradient colors to be printed with one passing of the roller, while maximizing colors

This body of work began at Pyramid Atlantic when it first opened from the Covid 19 shutdown. Working with color became a healing and rejuvenating process for the artist, presenting a needed distraction from the horrors of Covid, the Black Lives Matter movement, and the political unrest.

"This series represents the fact that beauty can be created in response to-and in spite of-trauma, disappointment, fear, and bewilderment. It is akin to how Jazz translated feelings into sound yet created beautiful music," remarks the artist. "Rainbows are a sign of hope, new beginnings, and transformation dating back to biblical times. Children are fascinated by them, while envisioning that pot of gold Over the Rainbow. The LBGTQ community has embraced the rainbow representing inclusivity, diversity, and the spectrum of human sexuality and gender. Coincidently, my research revealed the rainbow as a complete circle, which can only be seen in its full glory from 30,000 miles above the earth, as the horizon interrupts our full view. The circle is symbolic of oneness, unity, perfection and has been a recurring shape in my work even before the rainbow roll."

Gail Shaw-Clemons, born in Washington, DC, received her Masters' Degree in printmaking from the University of Maryland. She is a printmaker and mixed media artist and activists. She has exhibited extensively, with many works included in public and private collections in the USA, Brazil, Norway, Sweden, China, Fondazione il Bisonte-Florence, Italy and the Republic of Ireland. Her work is also in the collection of the National Museum of Women in the Arts, Library of Congress, and the Banneker-Douglass Museum. Shaw-Clemons has a studio at Stable Art and prints at the Bob Blackburn Printmaking Studio in New York as well as the Pyramid Atlantic Printmaking Studio. Shaw-

> —U.S. House Minority Leader Hakeem Jeffries

More Americans died of gun-related injuries in 2021, the most recent year for which statistics are available, than in any other year on record. Gun violence claimed the lives of at least 133 people per day, on average.

The violence is continuing apace in 2023, which has seen more than 15,000 lives lost to gun violence already, with more than one mass shooting for every day of the year and at least 370 shot by

Economic instability triggered by the COVID-19 pandemic, the rise of online hate and malicious misinformation, and tragically lax gun laws have created a deadly crisis of violence that calls for community-based solution-finding. All over the nation, new ideas and progressive thoughts are flowering from local communities. Toward a New Age of Community Safety, the National Urban League's framework for violence prevention and gun reform, is a compilation of these resources and tools for advocacy that address root causes and bring together communities and like-minded

Release of the report coincided with the Safe & Just Communities Summit, a two-day convening of the National Urban League and John Jay College of Criminal Justice to provide a comprehensive, community centered framework for safe communities that are resourced, just, healthy, and

It is our hope that this framework provides inspiration to the growing movement for change led by communities through partnership between neighbors, with government, and with nongovernmental allies. Through the legacy of the Urban League movement, we are fortified and firm in our belief that through the frustration of these trying times that we can find solutions and strategies for building stronger, safer, and collaborative communities.

During our conversation, Jeffries noted that he is working to several elements of the National Urban League's 21 Pillars for Redefining Public Safety and Restoring Community Trust, specifically bans on chokeholds and no-knock warrants, and requiring officers to intervene when excessive other women, men, grandparents, and young people across the country—insisting they do something about it. But there is hope we may be reaching a turning point.

This Mother's Day weekend, Moms Demand Action and Everytown for Gun Safety have called for a Mother's Day of Action with rallies across the country on May 13 to demand lawmakers reinstate the bipartisan assault weapons ban. As they say simply: "We are fed up with wondering whether our children will make it home alive." So they are not willing to sit by and idly wait. Many will keep praying fervently for their own children's safety, as mothers and fathers have always done, but they will accompany their prayers and their faith and their concern for children everywhere with work.

This is a chance to sing a new song. I end again with a special prayer this Mother's Day for mothers, grandmothers, and all with a mothering spirit. It is a call to action for all people who are willing to work for the world children deserve.

O God of all time

Yesterday, today, tomorrow, and eternity Give us courage in our lifetimes

Which leaves behind waifs and widows Rubble of spirit, home, and community.

Mothers, grandmothers, and all with a mothering

But there is no Trump-lite. There is no humane

Let us declare and demand: No more war force is being used.

He also reiterated his support for another National Urban League priority, a ban on assault weapons. As we noted in our new report, there are at least 4 million assault weapons among the 400 million firearms currently in circulation in the United States.

Approximately 400 million firearms are currently in circulation in the U.S., including 4 million assault rifles, with civilian gun ownership is rising in the U.S. The flood of guns into U.S. communities in 2020 led to the largest single-year increase in gun homicides on record. Gun violence reports grew by 30% during the first 12 months of the COVID-19 pandemic, with most states experiencing a spike.

Community-led violence intervention systems are growing in popularity, from the White House to Governor's Offices to municipal governments because they address the root issues of violence and provide alternatives to police response.

When we released the 21 Pillars in 2021, we highlighted the importance of engaging with communities directly, investing in them, and developing strategies for alternative responses to crisis. The framework outlined in Toward a New Age of Community Safety provides greater context, offering regional comparisons of various community-led movements, programs, and projects to serve as inspiration for collaboration and partnership no matter where in the country you are.

No more violence and abuse

No more killing of our young

O God of yesterday, today, tomorrow, and eternity Our dwelling place in all generations

Give us courage to sow seeds of life and hope for the future

And to fight with all our moral might for justice for every child

Help us to pluck the thorns of despair from our children's lives. Mothers, grandmothers, and all with a mothering

spirit

Let us declare and demand:

No more hunger

No more homelessness No more poverty

spirit

O God of yesterday, every child's history O God of today, every living child's birthright O God of tomorrow, every child's inheritance O God of eternity, every child's hope Life our voices against the spiritual and cultural pol-

which leave dreamless and purposeless the fruit of our wombs. Mothers, grandmothers, and all with a mothering

Let us stand together and build a world fit for children

Calling all to serve, to care, and to act to leave no child behind.

So Much Work to Do

Mothers. Grandmothers. Women We have so much work to do.

So many mothers and infant lives to save. So many child dreams to realize and hopes to nourish and protect.

Our countries and a common world to change and such long distances to travel—from waging war to waging peace; from sickness and death to health; from doubt to faith in Creator's feminine spirit within on that journey To speak for those unable to speak for them-

Let some of us—you and I—begin this minute

selves To stand with those who cannot stand alone

To gather family and friends to stand with us. Let us begin this day singing a new song for all our mothers and sisters and brothers and fathers and children around our world who are our own.

An old familiar proverb says, "A man may work from sun to sun, but a woman's work is never done." There is no doubt how apt this saying is for many mothers. Mother's Day is often celebrated as an opportunity for families to show mothers they are appreciated through a day of "rest," maybe with a home-cooked breakfast in bed or a dinner out. But mothers know that even in a rare moment when our hands are still, our minds and hearts are never fully at rest. There is always so much work to do.

This is true not only in individual homes and families, but on a national and global scale. Gun violence is just one example. Moms Demand Action has been fighting for common sense changes to our nation's gun laws since the 2012 murders of six educators and twenty first graders in Newtown, Connecticut. So far this year it has seemed clearer than ever that gun violence is an undeniably all-American epidemic. Yet too many elected leaders have remained staunchly unwilling to listen to the groundswell of mothers' voices—joined by fathers, way to turn away people in danger. Either we understand that we are part of one human race and orient our policies to embrace this fact, or we fail in a deep way. At CASA we see people seeking asylum as heroes, and the Biden administration and politicians of all parties who want to turn them away as cowards. People seeking asylum are living the values we claim every day. They are striving and seeking.

It's not just that they would do anything to protect their families—they are doing everything. It's the same as people with Temporary Protected Status. Despite the tentative acceptance they are given by U.S. laws, they are building something strong for their families and this country. We should embrace them as people, as friends and neighbors, as our community. We should restore the right to seek asylum, and extend TPS for Central America—to reduce the constant fear of deportation that so many of our community members face, so we can focus on building our future together.

With over 149,000 lifetime Latino, immigrant, and working-class members across 46 US states, CASA is the foremost immigrant organization in the mid-Atlantic region and a national leader in supporting immigrant families and ensuring that all individuals have the core support necessary for full participation in society. Now a national immigrant powerhouse, CASA creates change with its powerbuilding model blending human services, community organizing, and advocacy in order to serve the full spectrum of the needs, dreams, and aspirations of members. People Seeking Asylum Are Heroes; Politicians Who Demonize Them Are Cowards

WASHINGTON (May 11, 2023)—Following is a statement from CASA Executive Director Gustavo Torres, reacting to the Biden administration's plan to replace Title 42 restrictions at the U.S./Mexico border with a new asylum ban.

This announcement is a new low for the Biden administration and, indeed, this country. People move. They move for safety; they move for opportunity. They move because they want to, and sometimes because they have to.

The people who are coming to our border to seek asylum are just that—people. They want the same thing we all want—a chance at safety, security, and a future without fear. Why can't we have policies that reflect our shared humanity?

Instead of showing leadership and changing the conversation about migration to one of humanity and fairness, President Biden and some Democrats are doubling down on the narrative of fear and embracing exclusion. They're trying to present a sanitized version of the "othering" that President Trump so proudly brandished.

How We Can Do More for ALICE in Prince George's County

By Rosie Allen-Herring, President and CEO, United Way of the National Capital Area

A new United Way of the National Capital Area (United Way NCA) report on Prince George's County sheds light on the financial hardship of those who are working yet cannot afford the basics in the communities where they live. Of the 346,127 households in Prince George's, 31% had income below the ALICE Threshold of Financial Survival in 2021.

ALICE, a United Way NCA acronym for Asset Limited, Income Constrained, Employed, represents the number of individuals and families working but unable to afford basic necessities, such as food, healthcare, childcare, transportation expenses and more.

While the Federal Poverty Line (FPL) is updated yearly, the Census Bureau determines poverty status using Thresholds dating back to 1963. The antiquated FPL, the fact that AL-ICE households may not qualify for federal benefits or safety nets, and the increased cost of living over time, all contribute to the growing number of ALICE households.

To illustrate, a family of four with two parents working full time in two of the most common occupations (retail salesperson and cashier) earning a combined $58,500 annually could not afford Prince George's Household Survival Budget of $93,228 in 2021, even with the $20,800 in assistance through the expanded Child Tax Credit, the Child and Dependent Care Tax Credit, and the Economic Impact

ALICE is our district's childcare workers, home health aides and cashiers—those with little or no savings and one emergency from poverty. The gap between wages and the cost of living is a structural economic problem that has worsened since the COVID-19 outbreak. As such, Wednesday, May 17, United Way NCA will host its annual Do More 24 For venes nonprofits, private companies, and people of all ages committed to making a difference in their community. This year during this 24-hour online day of giving, we ask our friends and neighbors to imagine for a moment what life would be like if you were unsure of how you would pay your rent, mortgage, or utility bills next month.

As the region's convener, collaborator, and catalyst, United Way NCA's goal is to create a more equitable society where everyone in our community has fair and equal access to health, education, and economic opportunity. We cannot do this work alone, so we're calling on the community to Do More for ALICE. We know that collectively we can make great strides to reduce ALICE households in our region. When none are ignored, all will thrive. For more inplease formation, visit

Social Security Matters

Ask Rusty:

Should Octogenarians Tell Social Security They Married?

By RUSSELL GLOOR, National Social Security Advisor at the AMAC Foundation, the non-profit arm of the Association of Mature American Citizens years ago at age 78 and 81. Do we need to do anything with Social Security? Signed: Blissfully Happy

Dear Blissfully Happy: Congratulations on your fairly recent marriage and, yes, there are some things you should do. Specifically, you should contact Social Security to inform them of your marriage, see whether any additional benefits are available, and to make any changes needed to your contact information. Here are some things to consider:

- If a name change has occurred for one of you, that person should contact Social Security to report the change. A copy of your marriage certificate (and other ID) will be required, and a new Social Security card will be issued.
- If a change of address has also occurred for one or both of you, that must be reported. It's important that Social Security has the correct mailing address, email, and contact phone number for every beneficiary.
- If there are any other changes to the contact Information on file with the Social Security Administration for either of you (e.g., your banking information), the affected person should inform Social Security of the changes
- Social Security will evaluate whether any benefit increase is available as a result of your marriage, which may be the case if one of you is entitled to a "spousal boost" (an additional amount from the other now that you're married). A spousal boost may be available if one has a monthly Social Security payment which is more than twice the other's benefit. Social Security can answer that question for you when you call.

You can contact either your local Social Security office (find the number at www.ssa.gov/locator) or call the national number at 1.800.772.1213 and tell them you need to inform them of your marriage and update your contact information. If you have (or if you create) an online "my Social Security" account at www.ssa.gov/myaccount, you can initiate changes to your contact information online, but you will need to call Social Security directly

Dear Rusty: Dear Rusty: We were married two via phone to record your marriage and see if any changes to monthly benefits are available. All of this can likely be done without requiring a visit to your local SS office.

It is very important that Social Security be made aware of your new marital status and to ensure that they have the correct contact information for both of you. Even if the contact information is unchanged for one of you, the other should contact Social Security as described above to update their contact information and to determine if any changes to monthly benefits are appropriate as a result of your marriage. Doing so now will avoid future issues and will make sure you are both getting the correct monthly Social Security payments as a married couple. And if one of you is entitled to a higher spousal amount, you should ask for the increase to be applied retroactively (SS will pay up to 6 months retroactively). I suggest you call Social Security as soon as possible to inform them of your marriage and make any necessary changes to your contact information.

Restoration of 150-Year-Old Cemetery for Enslaved and Free Beltsville Residents

By PRESS OFFICER

Beltsville Maryland Reminiscence

A hidden graveyard, the resting place of enslaved laborers and white community members, will be the site of a cleanup sponsored by County Councilmember Tom Dernoga (D1) and Beltsville Maryland Reminiscence on Sunday, May 21, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Beltsville, MD.

Situated at the corner of Powder Mill and Ammendale Roads, the one-acre wedge of land, is now owned by Prince George's County. The 150 year-old cemetery lies next to a land parcel on which the stood the Ebenezer/Shaw Meeting House.

The Maryland Historical Trust inventories the property as a public site with a funerary function. In a 2002 archeological survey, "a total of 20 individual stones were determined and identified to be the remains of the grave markers of the Ebenezer/Shaw's Meeting House cemetery". The Ebenezer/Shaw Meeting House, circa 1836-1861, has ties to the Orme-Shaw House still on nearby Caverly Rd. Despite the widening of Powder Mill Road in 2005, the grave stones are thought to be intact.

Oscar Gregory, a long-time Beltsville resident and administrator of the Beltsville Maryland Reminiscence Facebook page, says, "It is a rare example of a local congregation that for 30 years up to the Civil War laid its members to rest on the same hallowed ground, no matter the race, social status—enslaved or free. Our community is coming together to restore and preserve the cemetery and its amazing legacy."

The Ebenezer/Shaw Meeting House was one stop on the Bladensburg Riding Circuit and was used by members of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Beltsville, MD.

This will be an initial cleanup to determine the cemetery and gravestones' state. For further information or to participate, contact Oscar Gregory at 240-426-0321 or ogregory55@gmail.com. Subsequent plans for the cemetery will be decided later.
